

Dr. Hannah Orwa Bula

Bula is the current departmental Examination's coordinator for Business Administration department and lectures at the school of Business, Kenyatta University. Bula has a wealth of experience in teaching, and consultancy and is also a research enthusiast who has done empirical studies in entrepreneurship, human resource management and Strategic management. She is currently teaching PhD classes and supervising over ten PhD candidates at Kenyatta University and one Student at Dedan Kimathi University in the areas of strategic management, Entrepreneurship and Human resources management.

Bula is well published in the field of Human Resources Management and Entrepreneurship. She is currently the publishing editor for Doctoral Association of Eastern Africa where she participated as a principal investigator on a survey of Doctoral degrees in Kenya compared to other doctoral degrees across the globe

Bula has been very instrumental in curriculum development and harmonization of various universities where she has worked. Recent curriculum development at Kenyatta University has been for Doctor of Business and Harmonization of units across semesters in the Department of Business Administration in 2013.